Pete Alderton Mystery Lady

New audiophile singer-songwriter blues sounds from the British Paderborn resident with American roots.

His fans appreciate him for his sometimes velvety, sometimes smoky voice and the sonically excellent productions. Now his fifth album "Mystery Lady" is released on Ozella Music / Songways. Pete Alderton interprets classics and his own songs with verve and feeling and gives them his special touch with the acoustic guitar. "House Of The Rising Sun" sounds like the wild west and lonely travelers, bitter and hopeful at the same time. The classic "Cocaine Lil" is a cozy and almost cheeky title, while "The Dancer" has a romantic and dreamy effect. Fans of Tom Waits, Leonard Cohen and Bob Dylan get their money's worth on the album "Mystery Lady".
